

Your fast track to membership of the Energy Institute
Join online today at www.energyinst.org.in

The Energy Institute (EI) is the leading professional body for the energy industry, providing opportunities for career development, learning and networking. Representing almost 12,000 individuals internationally, the EI provides a recognised community for those involved in all aspects of energy.

A Royal Charter membership organisation, the EI serves society with independence, professionalism and a wealth of experience in energy matters, creating a scientific and technical reservoir of knowledge for industry. Everyone involved in energy or with an interest in energy is able to join as an affiliate, with the option to progress to a professional grade of membership through demonstration of professional skills, knowledge and experience within the energy industry. In addition, the EI, UK is a licensed body of the Engineering Council, able to offer Chartered, Incorporated and Engineering Technician status to engineers. The specialist titles of Chartered Petroleum Engineer and Chartered Energy Engineer are also available, only from the Energy Institute, UK.

Energy Institute

Benefits of Affiliate membership – can you afford not to join?

- Free monthly magazine of your choice – Petroleum Review or Energy World
- Discounts on other magazines, publications and journals of the Energy Institute
- Free use of the library and information service including online database and research facilities
- Discounted rates to many EI training and events
- Provision of expert advice on your professional development and reduced rates for training courses and educational programmes
- Access to online careers information
- Membership of a Branch and Special Interest Groups of your choice
- Frequent networking opportunities through an extensive programme of local and national events, conferences, seminars, annual dinners and industry awards
- Exclusive information from the 'members only' section of our EI, UK website

All of these benefits are available immediately upon joining the EI as an Affiliate member.

In addition, on transferring to a professional grade of membership you will receive the following additional benefits:

- Use of designatory letters after your name such as MEI for Member of the Energy Institute
- Enhanced professional recognition and status
- Engineering Council registration for engineers including use of the designatory title Chartered Petroleum Engineer or Chartered Energy Engineer
- Professional development services to enhance your career and.....

.....many benefits which will put you on the ladder in the Energy and Petroleum Industry!!